

2021-2023

INTELLECTUAL LIFE

at the University of Cincinnati College of Law

Cincinnati Law enriches the curriculum by bringing to the college the scholarship and learning of esteemed professors in various fields of law. We invite you to review our offerings and view their recordings online as they are available.

2023 Upcoming Lectures

Inaugural Education Law Lecture February 2023

Dean Erwin Chemerinsky,

Jesse H. Choper Distinguished Professor of Law at UC Berkeley School of Law, will be the guest lecturer. Dean Chemerinsky, who also serves as president of the Association of American Law Schools, is a nationally recognized legal scholar known for his expertise in United States constitutional law and federal civil procedure. He is the author of 14 books, including leading casebooks and treatises about constitutional law, criminal procedure, and federal jurisdiction. Additionally, he has authored more than 200 law review articles, is a contributing writer for the Opinion section of the Los Angeles Times, and writes regular columns for the ABA Journal, as well as op-eds in newspapers across the country. He also frequently argues appellate cases, including in the United States Supreme Court.

2022 Lectures

Law Reform Through a Tort Lens: Intelligent Design? November 18, 202

Schwartz Lecture in Torts

Michael Green, Mel and Pam Brown Visiting Professor of Law at Washington University in St. Louis School of Law, is a nationally and internationally recognized torts teacher and scholar. He is a member of the European Group on Tort Law and is a founding member and emeritus executive committee member of the World Tort Law Society. He regularly lectures in Europe, South America, and China. In addition to his tort and products liability scholarship, he has written extensively about toxic torts and the issues of causation and apportionment that arise in those cases. His scholarly writing has appeared in outlets such as the Wake Forest Law Review, Pepperdine Law Review, UCLA Law Review, and DePaul Law Review, among many others.

Reproductive Rights Post-Dobbs October 28, 2022
Inaugural Social Justice Colloquium

Three months post the Dobbs ruling which returned the question of the right to an abortion to the states, the reproductive landscape across the country has changed radically. This colloquium examined the current state of affairs, addressed questions and provided solutions to the challenges that have arisen. Participants included Judith Daar, Ambassador Patricia L. Herbold Dean and Professor of Law, Salmon P. Chase College of Law; Jack B. Harrison, Professor of Law and Director, Center of Excellence in Advocacy, Salmon P. Chase College of Law; and Dr. Priya Gursahaney, Associate Professor of Obstetrics & Gynecology, University of Cincinnati.

Democracy's Constitution September 16, 2022
Constitution Day Lecture

Victoria Nourse, Ralph V. Whitworth Professor of Law at Georgetown Law Center, was the guest lecturer. One of the nation's leading scholars on statutory interpretation, Congress, and the separation of powers, she has published widely on the power of the President and the separation of powers, Reclaiming the Constitutional Text from Originalism: The Case of Executive Power, and on constitutional rights, the story of Skinner v. Oklahoma and American eugenics. Professor Nourse has had a distinguished career in government, serving as Chief Counsel to the Vice President of the United States, an appellate lawyer in the Justice Department and Special Counsel to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

True Parenthood April 20, 2022
Distinguished Visiting Professor of Law

Douglas NeJaime, Anne Urowsky Professor of Law at Yale Law School, will be the lecturer. Professor NeJaime's expertise is in the areas of family law, legal ethics, law and sexuality, and constitutional law. His scholarly work has been published in such journals as Stanford Law Review, Yale Law Journal, Harvard Law Review, Michigan Law Review, and the NYU Law Review.

Moving Beyond 'Diversity' in Race and Business Law March 25, 2022
Corporate Law Symposium

The 33rd annual Corporate Law Symposium, hosted in collaboration with the Nathaniel R. Jones Center for Race, Gender, and Social Justice, confronted how the discourse around race and business law can move beyond diversity. It brought scholars, practitioners, and business leaders together to discuss impediments and pathways to racial equity in business law.

The Making of The Whiteness of Wealth: How Institutions Shape Academic Thought
February 21, 2022

Robert S. Marx Lecture

Dorothy Brown, Asa Griggs Candler Professor of Law at Emory University School of Law, will be the guest lecturer. Professor Brown is a nationally recognized scholar in tax policy, race, and class and has published extensively on the racial implications of federal tax policy. Her research has been published in scholarly journals such as the Washington University Law Review, Emory Law Journal, Pepperdine Law Review, and Harvard Blackletter Law Journal.

2021 Lectures

Chokehold: Policing Black Men in the Post-Trump Era January 14, 2021

Distinguished Visiting Professor of Law Lecture

Paul L. Butler, the Albert Brick Professor in Law, Georgetown Law, explored the issue of state violence against Blacks, police brutality, and reform prospects in his law lecture. Professor Butler researches and teaches in the areas of criminal law, race relations law, and critical theory. Regularly consulted on issues of race and criminal justice, his scholarship has been published in scholarly journals such as the Yale Law Journal, the Harvard Law Review, the Stanford Law Review, and the UCLA Law Review.

Detroit's Property Tax Foreclosure Crisis: A Tale of Structural Racism February 11, 2021

Robert S. Marx Lecture

Bernadette Atuahene, Professor, Chicago-Kent College of Law, discussed the history and impact of racialized property tax administration as a longstanding driver of the racial wealth gap in the United States. A law professor and a documentarian, Professor Atuahene's work focuses on the field of law and international development.

Data Analytics in Business Law March 12, 2021

Corporate Law Center Symposium

James Grimmelmann, Tessler Family Professor of Digital and Information Law, Cornell Law School, was the keynote speaker at the 32nd Annual Corporate Law Symposium. Professor Grimmelmann's work focuses on how laws regulating software effect freedom, wealth, and power.

The Grenade, the Hourglass, and the Sundial: Constitutional Time in the United States and the World September 17, 2021

Constitution Day Lecture

Richard Albert, Professor of World Constitutions and Director of Constitutional Studies at the University of Texas at Austin, discussed the U.S. Constitution, why it is hard to amend, and why it is revered through the lens of the modes of time. Professor Albert has published over 20 books, including Constitutional Amendments: Making, Breaking, and Changing Constitutions.; his scholarly work has been published in such journals as Drake Law Review, the International Journal of Constitutional Law, Yale Journal of International Law, and the Supreme Court Law Review.

Two Perspectives on Inequality November 10, 2021

Harold C. Schott Lecture

Felix B. Chang, Associate Dean for Faculty and Research | Professor of Law | Co-Director, Corporate Law Center at the University of Cincinnati College of Law, will introduce his work on potential solutions for inequality in antitrust and inheritance law. He will cover the legal and economic implications of ethnically segmented markets, as well as the influence of trusts & estates on intergenerational wealth mobility. His scholarship has been published in journals such as the Washington Law Review, Nevada Law Journal (forthcoming) and the Ohio State Law Journal.

Schwartz Lecture in Torts November 30, 2021

Nora Engstrom, Ernest w. McFarland Professor of Law | Co-Director, Stanford Center on the Legal Profession, Stanford Law School, will be the guest lecturer. Her work explores the day-to-day operation of the tort system and its interaction with alternative compensation mechanisms. Her scholarly work has appeared in the Yale Law Journal, the Stanford Law Review, the NYU Law Review, the University of Pennsylvania Law Review, the Georgetown Law Journal, and the Michigan Law Review, among others. She also co-authored a leading professional responsibility casebook, Legal Ethics, as well as the torts casebook, Tort Law and Alternatives.

